THE Banque Jacques Cartier, with head office at Montreal, has decided to open a branch at Edmonton next month. L'Hon. A. Desjardins, M. P., president of the bank and A. L. De Martigny, managing director, leave Montreal on September 4th in company with Father Morin, to make final arrangements for conducting the bank's business here. The bank is to be situated in Clarke & Daly's office on Jasper Avenue.

MCKENZIE POWIS & Co., wholesale grocers of Winnipeg, purpose opening a branch house at Edmonton at an early date. The lumber is now on the ground for the erection of a warehouse on the H. B. reserve, west of First St. which will be occupied by the firm when completed. Mr. McKenzie, now registered at the Queen's is here in the interests of the firm. T. Hourston will manage the business here.

THE best view of Edmonton appearing in any newspaper is to be found in the last number of the "War Cry." The view is one of Jasper Avenue taken from the top of Larue & Picard's store by Mr. Mathers, photographer. In the foreground is the procession of the St. Jean Baptiste Society headed by the Edmonton Brass band. It is underlined "Provincial officer Read conducts a war march on the Main Street of a North Western city." The local members of the St. Jean Baptiste society are much annoyed that a photograph of their march should be used in this connection.

ED. CUFF, champion middleweight of the coast, left for Calgary on last train.

Two prairie schooners with Polish settlers passed through town on Thursday evening.

Two cars of stock and settlers' effects were left off at Lacombe by Thursday's train.

He left on Friday's train for Winnipeg intending to return with his family at once.

THE gold quartz brought by Dan Noyes and Harry Anthony from the Jasper Pass has been assayed. There is nothing startling about the assay. The rock was only surface rock and consequently no reliable estimate of the mine's worth could be made. Much better specimens are expected when the party return from staking out claims which will be about two weeks yet.

THE furs belonging to R. Secord, arrived from the Landing on Friday night. They are the most valuable lot of furs brought to town this season, embracing as they do every known fur to this northern clime. There are some excellent martin, fisher and silver fox, very few musk ox, a good proportion of beaver and the average number of bear. The lot are valued at about $30,000.

THE duck shooting season opened on Thursday and several sports in town hied themselves off to the nearest lakes only to find the ducks swimming about with down on and quite unable to fly. Last spring was a very late one and as a consequence the ducks did not begin to lay until late in May, the result is the birds are late in maturing and will not be ready to shoot for at least three weeks. Local sports have decided to defer their shooting until the birds can fly.

MR. K. McDONALD, who a few days ago, arrived in town from Washington Territory was 48 days on the way. Seven deer were killed in the mountains and travelling is reported hazardous and difficult. Between Calgary and Lacombe the horses had no water, farmers on the way not being able to give the party any more than they could drink themselves. Over two days were travelled without coming across a creek or river. He left his horses at Lacombe and came to town by last Monday's train.

FIVE wagons containing as many settlers' families and a few effects, driven by four horses each are on their way from Calgary to Edmonton. They have already been ten weeks on their journey from Washington Territory. For a great part of the distance the railroad had to be travelled as there was no trail and where tressel bridges intercepted the track, the horses had to be unhitched, driven down big gullies and swum across the rivers, while the cart and contents had to be shoved across by hand. Once through the mountains, travelling became easy; but had it not been for the strike on the R. R. the possibilities are that they would not have come through with their effects. Some parts of the mountains they only made a mile in three days.

REV. E. B. GLASS of White Fish Lake is in town.

THE auction sale of H. Wilson's stock of general merchandise, South Edmonton, takes place Thursday.

John Connors is refitting the building opposite the Imperial block, which is to be turned into city club rooms.

W. TURNER, an old resident of Edmonton; but now of Battleford, had his arm and collar bone broken while riding a wild horse last Wednesday.

THE hydraulic gold washer, that was brought in recently, is being tested this week on the south shore of the Saskatchewan near the upper ferry. It is very similar to the old style grizzly and works with a hose, through which water is drawn from the river and forced out by steam engine.

MR. BEACH, of Washington Territory, Messrs Lambertson and Worsop of Minneapolis, Kansas, and Mr. Grey of Oregon, returned yesterday from their trip to Beaver Lake and are highly delighted with the general appearance and peculiarities of the district. Much of the land they saw they considered excellent for mixed farming while other sections they thought would only be good for pasture. In all their travels they saw no land but what was useful for something and never saw a new country in which the good land was so much in excess of the poor land.

Or the wood buffaloes shot in the Athabasca district last season only one specimen has found its way to town. This was brought down last week by J. Carlton of Fort Chipewyan and was the only one shot by him this winter. He brought the whole hide; head, hoofs and tail intact, so that it could be set up as a museum specimen. The hide is ten feet in length its girth, eight feet. The woodbuffalo is fast becoming extinct. The Indians hunt them whenever they can. In season or out is the same to them. They follow them for weeks at a time, very often being unsuccessful; but they are fond of the meat, and will endure many hardships to get it.

A crofter settlement was started on the Slave river last year at a point between Ft. Smith and Ft. Resolution, about nine hundred miles from here. Thos. Kerr and Duncan McDonald, of Stornoway, Isle of Lewis off the N. W. coast of Scotland, were sent out by an English Lady of title and this is the spot they chose. Used to fishing, they find a fisherman and trapper's life quite congenial to their habits. This is the home of the inconnu, (unknown fish of Indians) a fish which weighs from 30 to 40 pounds at maturity and is found nowhere south of the rapids at Ft. Smith. Reports from the settlement say, that by hunting and fishing, these men are making a comfortable living; are contented and happy and are much better off than they would be on the rugged shores of their native island. Here the Gaelic language is spoken as pure as in the land of its birth, but what it will be among the growing generations of Chippewyans is a matter for future ethnologists to speculate upon.

THE Edmonton Board of Trade has draughted a memorial to the C. P. R. asking for a further reduction of freight rates to Calgary and the coast cities. The memorial points out, that while it has been possible to ship grain to Vancouver at a slight profit, it has been impossible to compete with the American States at Victoria, consequent upon the fact that the markets of Victoria and Vancouver are both reached by American shippers at the one expense, whereas the shippers of Edmonton who must ship by water from Vancouver to Victoria, cannot ship at a profit to the latter place, due to the necessarily extra cost. The board is asking for a rate that will permit shippers here to compete with shippers from the Western States at both Victoria and Vancouver, viz 28c. instead of 35c. The memorial also points out that while the through rate to Vancouver is 35c. per 100 lbs., the rate to Ashcroft, this side of Yale, is 56c. They ask that the rate be made uniform from Ashcroft to Victoria. The board further asks for a rate of 52c. per 100 lbs. on cattle to the same market. The matter of potatoes, vegetables, hay and coal is also referred to. It is asked that the rate on coal to Calgary be $2 per ton, that the rate on millstuffs, potatoes and vegetables in mixed car load lots be 17c. per 100 lbs. to the same point and that $2 per ton be charged on hay and straw in car load lots of twenty thousand pounds.

FRANK OLIVER, — PROPRIETOR.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, AUGUST 27th, 1894.

NORTHWEST ASSEMBLY.

REGINA, August 17th.

Haultain gave notice of bills to amend the judicature ordinance and to amend the school ordinance.

Oliver presented a petition from the Baptist church Regina asking for the prohibition of the liquor traffic.

The bill respecting the abatement of nuisances passed its third reading.

Davidson's bill respecting noxious weeds was read a second time.

Prince's bill requiring a description of articles held under lien note for registration was read a second time.

The bill to amend the ordinance for exempting the Manitoba Northwestern railway from taxation was passed through committee. Also the bill to amend the liquor license ordinance by placing the buyer as well as the seller under penalty. Also the bill amending the ordinance respecting statute labor and fire districts, the principle provision of which is that a resident cannot be compelled to go more than three miles from home to do statute labor. The bill also provides for certain returns to be made.

The bill respecting elections was considered in committee and progress reported.

MONDAY, August 20th.

Haultain introduced a bill to further amend the school ordinance.

Oliver presented petitions from members and adherents of Knox church Regina, and of Wolsey Royal Templars of Temperance asking for prohibition of the liquor traffic.

The bills introduced by Insinger, amending the ordinance exempting the Manitoba Northwestern railway from taxation, amending the liquor license ordinance and amending the statute labor and fire district ordinance were read a third time.

Haultain moved two amendments to the liquor license ordinance which were carried. One extended the prohibition of taking certain chattels in pawn for liquor, to live stock of various kinds, and the other provided that only incorporated societies might permit the sale of liquor by license holders on their grounds during race meetings or like special occasions.

Page's bill to amend the prairie fire ordinance was read a second time. The bill reserves a clause respecting the leaving of camp fires burning which had been left out of the amendments of last year and provides that burnt ground, water or such like natural obstacle to the spread of fire shall be considered a sufficient guard in case it is desired to kindle a fire, as well as the plowing insisted upon.

Page's bill amending the ordinance respecting the advertising of stray animals was read a second time. This bill contains the provisions regarding the advertising of such animals that were enacted last year and additional provisions for the sale of unclaimed animals after one year.

The bill respecting the destruction of noxious weeds within municipalities was passed through committee.

The bill respecting elections was considered in committee.

The bill introduced by Neff to increase the exemption of cows under the exemption ordinance from two to six was agreed to in committee.

Insinger introduced further amendments to the exemption ordinance, reducing the exemptions on household furniture from $500 to $200, and making all chattel exemptions absolute. He believed that an exemption in order to be really useful and fair to all classes should be absolute, but while making the exemptions absolute he would only exempt necessities, not luxuries. He quite agreed with the increase of the exemption in case of cows already agreed to and he would make that absolute, but the necessity for $500 worth of furniture was not apparent, therefore, he wished to reduce it to $200, which amount he would absolutely secure. It was very little use to a debtor to allow him $500 or $1,500 exemption in the ordinance when the ordinance could be so easily and was so generally disregarded as at present.

Neff and Davidson spoke strongly against the argument that the present exemption ordinance was unsatisfactory and objected to the proposed reduction.

Jelly thought that there should be an exemption of poultry which was not at present exempt and which formed a great part of the support of many farmers when in poor circumstances.

Mowat suggested that the amendments be left in committee until to-morrow to admit of further consideration.

Haultain laid on the table of the house a return of the returns made by the sheriff's and clerks of the supreme court of the Territories which had been asked for by the house.

The bill to regulate traffic on public bridges within the Territories was passed through committee.

Page moved that the returns from sheriff's and clerks which had been laid on the table be referred to the committee on civil law. He understood that only two of the clerks of court those of MacLeod and Prince Albert, and none of the sheriffs appeared to have sent in returns.

Insinger said that as changes were being proposed regarding the emoluments of sheriff's and clerks these returns were necessary to enable the house to reach a proper conclusion. He asked if a penalty could be enforced against them for not making the returns which the ordinance on the subject required.

Haultain said he did not know of any penalty except that the house might suspend the scale of fees until the gentlemen concerned had condescended to report. That probably would have the desired effect. He had no idea that the ordinance requiring returns had been systematically ignored.

House adjourned.

COST OF PRISONERS.

The following order in council which was passed in Ottawa on June 30th '93 has only recently been published in the Territories. It is a matter of special importance to municipal corporations:

Persons connected or accused of any offence under any ordinance of the Northwest Territories or any municipal by-law or regulation, or sentenced to confinement under any such ordinance by-law or regulation, or arrested under any civil process shall be received and kept in any jail or lock-up created under the authority of the Northwest Territories act or under any act amending the same, upon condition that the cost of the maintenance (at the rate of 75c per day) of such prisoner during the period such prisoner is to be imprisoned is paid in advance to the sheriff, jailor or other officer in charge of such jail or lock-up. Provided however, that if such prisoner is to be confined for a period exceeding two weeks then the cost of maintenance at the rate aforesaid may be paid weekly in advance.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN ALBERTA.

In prospecting for minerals in our creek a fine ledge of sandstone, similar to that of Calgary, was discovered on Monday last. There is also an abundance of brick clay.

Mrs. Decou has the sympathy of all the settlers in the loss of her young son. He died from the effects of eating choke cherries.

Good and quick work was done by Mr. Lamoureux, the police hay contractor. He employed about 30 teams and delivered about 150 tons in 3 days.

Harvesting is going on rapidly and threshing will commence shortly.

The Rev. Mr. D'esum, minister of the Church of England, is now stationed at Beaver Lake, and holds services every Sunday much to the satisfaction of the settlers throughout that district.

Mr. Watt, one of our local contractors, has orders for several boats, one of which is for Mr. Kildahl, the land agent at Beaver Lake. From the mole, knowing ones, says it will be the neatest and best ever built in the north.

Since the opening of the new hotel "Mansion House," last July, a large number of visitors are to be seen weekly on our streets. All have the same thing to say, namely that it is a credit to the place, and the proprietor, Mr. Marriaggi and his manager Mr. Vellat.

22nd August 1894.

The model will be patented and a company formed to handle patents throughout the world.

CAMPING ALONG THE C. & E.

The following interesting letter from the pen of Mr. J. L. Tipping appears in the last issue of the Orillia packet. Giving as it does a good off hand description of the country without wearying details we take pleasure in reproducing it for the benefit of our distant readers:

Sir,—According to promise I send you a few lines regarding my trip. I will touch on those points only that may be of interest to some of my Ontario friends who contemplate moving west. For instance I purpose saying a few words regarding the Edmonton district, and will mention those places that seemed to me good points for settlers, on our way from Edmonton to Calgary overland. We camped near the different small towns every night, as the trail runs almost parallel with the railway. Wetaskiwin is a good point—plenty of room for any hustler, with ample wood and water. Ponoka, situated in the garden of Edmonton district, consists of station and telegraph office combined only, but a fine country; and talk about your rivers, this stream, battle river, about the same size as our Severn, only shallow, comparatively, and running to beat Rama Band. I caught a fine string of fish at night, 9 p.m., pickerel and jack fish. About one hundred yards from our camp and two hundred from the river is a heavy spruce swamp with timber, some trees over thirty inches through, and straight as a sun-beam; good site for a saw mill, etc. Eight or ten families have gone into Ponoka the last month and taken up land. Lacombe is the choice around this part, and I must say that the crops and vegetables looked simply grand. In fact from Edmonton to Red Deer the country is more like Ontario than any other part of Manitoba or the Northwest Territory I have yet seen. Heavy bush, lakes, creeks, plenty of hay and pasture, game in every thicket or slough. The winters are always on hand with good sleighing and dry, hard, frozen roads. No doubt they are frozen. Innisfail also is a thriving town. We passed through about 2 p.m. "en route." I heard Mr. Herbert, late of Orillia, had been in the day before, no doubt putting in a supply of necessities, as his place is twenty miles from town. I should have enjoyed a surprise party on him only time would not permit. We passed wagon loads of settlers daily, whole families with their outfit stock, etc. Prairie schooners they call the covered caravans. Women and children enough to settle the country in a few years, driving along as comfortable as if they were only going out on a picnic to Atherley or Geneva Park. More than half of Orillia's people would exclaim "aloud" were they to witness the long line of caravans and their contents. One very funny view caught me forcibly as I was riding past an outfit. It was a group of children in the front part of the wagon under cover, and a couple of young calves' heads sticking out from between the canvas in rear of the load, bellowing most lustily. We all enjoyed a good laugh at it. On arriving at Calgary we found the prairie fires raging and everything burnt up with the sun and dry, hot weather. Calgary is a very clean town, and boasts of some fine buildings, but for mixed farming, not ranching, take the Edmonton district. New potatoes were selling here at Calgary a week ago for $3 per bushel, and small at that. The town is too well known for me to boot. Suffice it to say that it stands No. 1 as a ranching country. I met Robert Begg and had a pleasant time reviewing the past. He is doing well on his ranch at Dunbow."

COMMUNICATIONS.

EDMONTON, August 24th.

DEAR SIR:—I wish to correct the error which occurred in last week's War Cry, on page 11, through your valuable columns. There appeared a picture of the St. Jean Baptiste Society procession on the Main St. Edmonton, this was as it was intended to appear. But by some unaccountable error, the editor placed underneath this out the words "Provincial officer Read conducts a war march on the Main St. of a Western City." This was entirely misleading. The photo had been sent down as a view of Edmonton as it was the best one that could be procured and doubtless the editor supposed it to be an S. A. march. However, I will ask the editor to correct the error at the earliest possible moment.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Anglican parsonage at Innisfail is about completed.

The "Mascot Dance" by Madge A. H. Doughty is numbered 7525 among the list of copy rights in last Canada Gazette.

S. Fream and John Simpson J. P.'s of Innisfail dismissed the criminal charge against Chas. Ross for fraudulently selling a town lot to Mrs. Vartz and at the same time expressed the opinion that the conduct of the prosecution in the case was "most reprehensible." The case originated thus: Mr. Vartz accepted a bonus of two town lots from Mr. Ross, agent for the townsite trustees, in consideration of starting a brickyard. Vartz had not enough funds to start the enterprise and sold the lots to N. Remillard. Remillard made Ross his agent and Ross sold one lot to Mrs. Vartz and one to Mrs. Miller. Vartz then went into the brickyard and the conditions being fulfilled the transfer issued from the trustees to him and he signed the transfer to his wife. Mrs. Vartz objected to paying the transfer fee and complained to a local J. P. who advised the action of "fraudulently selling the lots knowing they were not registered." The J. P. is eyed askance just now.

M. Maestraci, of the French navy, has devised a method of solidifying petroleum and forming it into briquettes. His plan is to mix with each liter of petroleum 150 grammes of caustic soda. This mixture is heated and kept well stirred while it is being heated. At the end of about forty minutes solidification commences, and if any tendency to overflow is shown some drops of soda are thrown in. When the mass is nearly solid, it is poured into moulds so as to make briquettes, which after being placed in an oven for from ten to fifteen minutes, are allowed to cool. With the addition of 20 per cent. of clay or sand, firmer and more lasting briquettes result. Trials have been made with this fuel on tugboats at Marseilles with the result that an equal weight of briquettes produced three times the heat of ordinary coal; while in one instance, with a specially constructed furnace, one kilog. of solidified petroleum was found equal to four kilogs of coal.—Colliery Guardian.
